

Stormwater as A Water Source

Free talk by Colin Pitman

Director, City Projects—City of Salisbury

Come and hear about the world renowned Salisbury stormwater catchment and treatment project and exciting developments over the past 18 months.

There has been considerable international interest from water authorities in Berlin, Budapest and California, along with a joint working project across a large area of Sydney.

The City of Salisbury project captures and treats the water for aquifer recharge, sells it to irrigators and purifies it into drinking quality.

Come and hear about the City of Salisbury's Stormwater system and how they did it.
